

Announcing the winner of the 2017 Loretta P. Lacey Academic Leadership Award...

Daniel A. Enquobahrie, PhD, MPH, MD

Associate Professor, Department of Epidemiology
Adjunct Associate Professor, Department of Health Services
Director, Center of Excellence in MCH Education, Science & Practice

THE UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

Among the many roles in which Dr. Enquobahrie serves, his nomination letter highlighted his passion for the role of teacher & student mentor. Students consistently praise him for his ability to communicate his knowledge of & enthusiasm for MCH; He is a highly sought after master & doctoral committee Chair. Despite a heavy teaching load, he added a multidisciplinary undergraduate MCH pipeline course. He excels in his research endeavors. Locally, regionally & nationally, he serves effectively as a mentor & leader.

"He is very personable, enthusiastic, caring, diligent, hard-working & conscientious. He has accomplished much...& is poised to contribute substantially as a leader & scholar to the field..."
